General contractor looking for subs to help me out on projects comming up. I would like to find one or to subcontractors to start building a relationship with that would be willing to partner with me on some of my work. If you are set up as a LLC have general liability insurance, or setup as a individual doing business as and have general liability insurance and willing to work off a 1099. Please leave me your name telephone number and business name so I can get in contact with you and see if we can start building a partnership. Please do no respond to this ad if you're just an individual Looking for a job I do not want a employee working for me I have guys like that already.
