High-res digital aerial photography (stills, not video) of a 3.5 acre parcel where I am laying out a do-it-yourself homeowner construction project. This will allow me to make linear measurements that I would otherwise have to hire a surveyor for. Photography cannot be wide-angle as this will distort linear measurements.

You will have a good handle on the capabilities of your equipment. You will already know what focal length and camera altitude will work best.

Amateur with skillz welcome. If you have the ability to take an aerial photo of a 300' x 500' area with little or no focal-length distortion (for example, a 2x4 laid flat in the center of a photo is the same length as 2x4's at the edges of the photo), then email me a sample and let's talk.
