Hi, I have a green cheek conure. He's been here for three years, was a rescue. I love him !
I'm looking to add a second bird. So, I'd like to adopt another conure. I'll give them a great home.
I'm here all the time and don't keep mine in a cage during the day, only at night or if we go out. I take mine to vet regularly. He gets his wings clipped so he can play in the house and when we go out he is secure is his little play cage. My bird is my baby. But, I think he'd like to see another bird ? Not just us all the time ? He tries to play with the dog, but that's not gonna happen. So, if you're looking for a forever home for your bird, please think of me. Thanks for:)
