Will anyone help me?

I need the help of a professional LMT or CMT, or someone who is good at loosening up muscle tissue. I have been diagnosed with a form of Muscular Dystrophy that causes my the connective tissue to become rigid. This illness is painful and ultimately fatal. I can share much greater detail if you are willing to help.

Medical costs being what they are, and the fact that thanks to Obamacare Manual Myofascial release or massage of any kind is not covered by insurance. I am in a world of hurt. Mainly, my back, neck and legs are the problem areas.

Out of the goodness of your heart, or barter for some chores I would like to try and set something up.

If you are not a professional, but would like to help. My back only would be all that is needed. And I can leave my shirt on too.

So Yes, I'm married. My wife knows, and understands. She can't press hard enough to help. She works my neck and legs though, just not well enough.

If you are interested in helping, please change the subject line. I will know then that it isn't some fake person. I am more than willing to travel to wherever you would help me. You massage studio, or where you.
