I have to male rats for sale to the right home I will not sell them to you if I think or have a suspicion of them being snake food I have owned these rats since there were babies they are about a year old with school starting and me getting a job they don't get the attention they deserve they are very friendly and are a bonded pair so I will not seperate them or if you know a rescue that will take them I would be open to that if I can't find a good home I will keep them.
100.00 for them and there big bag of bedding and there cage which alone is worth over 100
