QR Code Link to This Post I'm selling my brand new tin ceiling tiles which we were originally going to use in our dining room. We went with another style instead. These are 24x24, and are easily nailed up for ceiling, back splash or on a wall itself. They are finished in the "Antique Transparent Bronze" color, and you can easily order more if needed. There are 42 of them, enough to cover 168 square feet. The first picture is the actual tin tiles, the second and third are the same style but installed. Asking $500 for all, will not split up.!
