My name is Ella. I am a developing fx trader. I am curious to see if there are any local fx traders or just traders in general, that would like to meet up once a week. Weekends perhaps? To discuss trades and markets. If you are new or interested, this might be perfect for you. If you are an expert, you are still welcomed!

I've been trading for a year or 2. I am developing and slowly growing. It would just be nice to have a group of traders as friends.

I am NOT into any MLM. I have learned things on my own by reading, watching videos, gathering information etc. I have a few friends who trade independently full time and they have been a lot of help as well.

I'm just looking for people who are just as obsessed/passion as I am about trading. My goal with trading is to become a full time professional trader which will take time and lots of discipline.

Thanks. Looking forward to meeting.
