QR Code Link to This Post Do you have previous business experience and are eager to share your wealth of experiences with an audience? Are you perhaps a writing student or enthusiast with a strong interest in business and leadership topics?

We are a creative marketing and design agency that has teamed up with some outstanding writers to create a new start-up business publication, focusing on business leadership and innovative companies doing great things in Baltimore and the surrounding areas. We are actively seeking dynamic, engaging writers to provide well-written and engaging content for our publication. We are currently in the process of building the content for launch which is scheduled for mid to late December.

Stories will be primarily focused on entrepreneurship and business leadership and should be in the range of 800-2000 words each. You will receive credit as the writer of the article, and articles can only be used on our site. As a start-up, we do not have funding at this time for pay-per-word articles. HOWEVER, you will have the opportunity to promote your business through our publication in lieu of payment. In addition, you will have the opportunity build your writing portfolio, and your writing will be read by thousands of business-minded professionals.

We are seeking original content- no uploading of existing blog content will be accepted and submitted articles will be checked through CopyScope for originality. No discussion of political content will be accepted in articles. You may write as often as you like.

If you are passionate about business and entrepreneurship and would like to lend your talents to a startup publication with big goals for the future, we would love to hear from you! Please submit a sample of your original writing for consideration. If you do not have any writing samples, please submit a 500-word article on a current trending business or leadership.
