ARIKURY PALMS. Only two left- $150.00- and they look nicer than the photo! These will look great in your garden as a specimen plant. Slow growing. The two potted plants for sale are probably 15-20 years old! You can plant into larger pot with fresh soil and mulch, or better, plant into your garden where they will receive bright light and there is room for a 15' eventual spread.

Arikury Palm : Syagrus Schizophylla

General information: The Syagrus Schizophylla is a medium sized Florida palm with pinnate, 6-8 feet long, armored at the bases, dark green leaves and a rough, scrappy, covered with interesting leaf bases trunk. It slowly grows to a height of 15 feet.

Additional Information:

Growth rate: The Florida palm has slow growth rate.

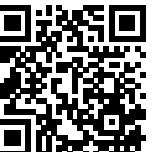

Habitat: The Arikury palm is native to Brazil. In its native habitat this plant occurs in sandy coastal areas.

Maintenance: These Florida palms prefer sunny locations and well-drained soils. They are cold tolerant, can tolerate temperature down to 27 F. They are also drought tolerant.

Uses: This Florida palm is a nice ornamental because of its small stature and striking leaf stem bases. It is a good potted and interior plant.

Check with your vet but I think parrots like the seeds on this palm. Photos at:
