REWARD!!!!

I Lost 4 ducks on New years eve. And then a few days later my last 5 disappeared. Both happened when we were not at home. That is what makes me think someone might have stollen them. It was also at night both times and they never left our yard before. Nothing killed them because there was no blood or feathers anywhere. We searched all over near and far and never saw a feather. Also the night the second group went missing my neighbor said they were in his yard that night and they had never gone over there before. He said they seemed really nervous.

There are 8 white and tan ducks. They are tan flecked with a white background and a tan head. The last duck is a bantam duck that was chocolate color with a light colored chest. If you have seen new ducks show up in your neighborhood that meet this description please let me know. I am very worried about them.

If you know of there whereabouts Please let me know. No questions asked!!!!
