I know this is a long shot but at this point willing to post to craigslist. I was reading articles this morning and saw where many completed adoption stories were a success using craigslist. How amazing.

First of all my husband and I have wanted to extend our family since we have been married. We've had a great relationship for 15 years married 6. We unfortunately cannot have our own children and have tried fertility medicine for over a year. We have finally come to terms that we are supposed to adopt. Over the past 2 years we have looked into different adoption agencies but cannot afford all the expenses. We found one we were hoping to go with but it still would have been over $27,000.00

To have most of the money upfront is nearly impossible for us.

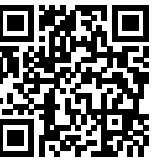

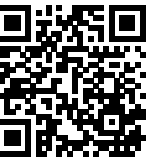

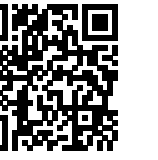

My husband has a great job at the mill and I am now blessed to stay home. Our hopes were for me to stay home to have the time to explore our options. Sadly, we cannot afford the heavy expense to be able to adopt through an agency.

We are not here to beg for someone's baby but to please consider us if you are considering placing your baby up for adoption. Adoption is the best thing for people like us who aren't as fortunate and blessed to be able to conceive our own. We are excited to adopt and give our baby a home full of love and spoil him/her rotten. ;)

We are both early 30's and READY to begin this incredible journey.

Please no negative emails to us.. I know it may seem crazy to some posting our situation on craigslist but we feel hopeful and have seen many others have such great success using this site. We look forward to being parents and hopefully The Lord will bless us!!

Thank you and god bless
