I am a 100% disabled combat veteran trying to make a go of being an author. I am a native Idahoian who grew up in this area before leaving for the Army. I became an Infantry Officer after starting my career as a Private E-1. I retired from the Army as a Captain. I wrote my first book and it was so well received by my editor that I was contacted by an Agent and was asked if she could represent me. Although I feel certain that my books will do well, I am having a hard time coming up with the money to finish having my book edited, the equipment I need to write more books and advertising expenses. It was suggested to me that I reach out and see if any Idahoians would be interested in sponsoring me as a beginning author in exchange for signed copies of my books and possible inclusion in my books should the sponsor so desire and the sponsor fit into my story line. I have yet to receive a negative review from all who have read my work so I am confident that my writings will do well. I just have to get to the point of being able to publish.

If you are interested in possibly sponsoring me, please respond to this post and we can talk further.

Thank you for your time and.
