We are futurestatus.com, a growing social media startup based in LA. We are looking for more awesome interns to join our growing team. We're in need of highly motivated college students and recent graduates who can give use between 5-10 hours per week to help us do some of the most critical tasks that keep our site running. Our internship program is currently unpaid but may lead to paid positions. To apply, register and post something on on website and use the hashtag #intern

thank you and happy new year from the team at futurestatus.com
