Any bass players out there interested in some casual jamming? We are a drummer and guitar player combo who get together about once a week for a jam session. We do covers only, focusing on classic rock, alternative rock, and alternative country with an emphasis on the 'B' side of things. We are in our 40's with full time jobs. You should be 420 friendly and OK with us having a drink or two during the jam. However, no participation is required or expected. We just want to jam and have fun while doing.
