I have started a Social Network called No Girl Run which is a outlet for women to be able to get together and seek/give advice, chat in forums, share beware relationship stories, pamper station and so much more. With many women being ashamed of the situation at hand, or wanting to vent to someone that doesn't have a pre judged opinion this is a great option.

What im looking for is for 2 open minded women to make moderators of the site as well as admins of the facebook page. So you will have creativity freedom to make your own posts, share-invite-add members, and some promoting of the site whether its via Craigslists, Twitter, Facebook Etc, with just a willingness to help others.

If interested please reply via email or text anytime
