Hi there! I am currently looking for a new band to sing and scream in. I have past stage experience, studio recording experience, and am in contact with different promotion agents. No big deal, just thought I'd throw that out there. I have played with different bands across the country, and am ready to do what they do...start recording more and tour. I want to join a band that wants to actually try to do this, instead of just make it a hobby. I am willing to dedicate myself completely and move to your location to join you! I have been playing music for years, but being a front man is the one thing i absolutely love to do, and i promise, i can put on a show for the crowd. I am drug and alcohol free. My influences for the kind of style i want to do or join involve Northlane, Norma Jean, Oh, Sleeper, Silent Planet, The Word Alive, etc. Hell, i would also throw A Day to Remember in there. I am a very passionate person with music, and i love to have fun with it, and revolve everything i do around the music project that i ever involved with. If you are interested, i have my old band's past EP to show my singing and screaming involved with them. Just for a reference.

If you are interested in me, please get ahold of me ASAP and lets make this happen! Thank you.
