

Thank you again to anyone who has reached out and offered advice, support, encouragement or a home. We are so forever grateful.

*****

Numerous letters ask us to care for animals on a permanent basis. They are magically transformed into male and female. On 10 December, all are now wherever they are, waiting to be born. There will be no longer any more of them. We have a financial and emotional investment in them. We pregnant, and we are cat and dog. Just give birth. In addition, we have various aged dogs too. We are all recently bereaved by our beloved, having animals and young is being cared for and all efforts to rectify the situation. We will leave our home if we can find homes for these sweet animals. All of the animals good with the new animal and people.

We currently have one pregnant roodise she'll start laying We also have 1 beautiful tabby cat and white cat with 1 day old babies and we have two other male cats with approx 4 to 5 week old babies. We also have various other cute ball ages and all colors. Most are longhair. Babies solid white or orange black... Anything you can imagine we probably have. We've got to find homes for them SAP or we are going to be forced to move from our home.

We also have the following dogs. 1 Beautiful female pitbull. She's gorgeous as well and loves anyone and everyone. 2. A sweet yorkie* mix. He's a tiny boy. Cute and silly and loves a lap to cuddle on. He's on the big side but he's cuter such a love bug. I know I've said that a million times but I want so much for people to understand how much we love these animals. It feels almost cruel that I lost my job and now things are piling up so much and things can't keep going but I have to do what is best for these animals. I want to avoid shelters if I can but my time is very limited by my landlord.

We also have the following dogs. 1. Beautiful female pitbull. She's gorgeous as well and loves anyone and everyone. 2. A sweet yorkie* mix. He's a tiny boy. Cute and silly and loves a lap to cuddle on. He's on the big side but he's cute such a love bug. know I've said that a million times but I want so much for people to understand how

---

I'm not asking for an adoption fee for any of these animals but PLEASE don't be a flipper. I can't stand the thought of parting with these animals and having them handed off to people who won't care for them. I want them to have homes forever and not cycled and dropped off like the people that caused them to end up in our care.

Please contact me via email and I will gladly provide pictures if you're interested in a specific animal. Also, if you're a no-kill shelter or rescue and are willing to help PLEASE contact me. The sheer number of animals alone is going to make it difficult to find homes for them all so if some can go in groups to a rescue or something that would help tremendously.

Please help me and my family do right by these animals. They all deserve wonderful loving homes.

Thank you so much for your time and consideration.

*People have expressed interest in the yorkie mix until they get details and then they disappear. Jack, our yorkie mix, is more like a yorkie on steroids. He's not a tiny thing, he's about 20 pounds but a yorkie mix is the only thing I know to describe him. He has the coloring of a yorkie but he's built like a small tank and he doesn't have super long baby fine hair like a yorkie. He's hard to describe physically but he is an amazing little athletic dog. He can go on jogs and runs with a person and loves to run and play. He's smart and energetic and would make a GREAT watch dog. He keeps getting overlooked because he isn't your typical little dog but he's been my buddy for several years and parting with him will be harder than anyone else. He's that special. I hate that people can't see past that stocky little body and adore him for the fun loving little guy that he is.