Hey there! I'm Aaron and I design websites that are great looking, mobile-optimized (easy to browse on your phone) and affordable.

I've been in online marketing since graduating from the University of Michigan in 2011 and work with website design on a daily basis. I'm beginning freelance work for small businesses looking to give their existing website a visual overhaul or start from scratch with something entirely new.

All of the websites I create are mobile optimized (Google is now taking mobile usability into consideration when ranking your page in search). I can even help you with improving your presence in local search.

I'd love to talk with you about how we can meet your online goals together. Check out my own website <http://aaronsransom.com> to get a feel for the work I do and give me a call at the number listed through the contact portion of this ad. I'll never try to sell you on something you don't need.

Hope to talk to you!
