IT Technician Needed

I have a small business that is looking to expand in the next three months. I am interested in finding an IT Technician that has general understanding of help desk, active directory, and networking. Position will start as a contractor with hours varying from 10-15 hours a week. Work happens all over Kansas City. Reliable transportation is needed. If you are interested, please reply with your qualifications and times you would be available.

Good personality and ability to communicate well with clients is a must.
