Seriously, yes... free. Not "free" as in "trial period"... and there is NO credit card involved to get it. No risk. You want it, so you just get it... simple.

Let me tell you a bit of a story to go with it, though. It's about... cash fairies.

Ten months ago, around March, I tried my hand at internet marketing. I stumbled around and wasted a little bit of money finding what worked, but came up with a campaign that brought me some income. The stupid thing is... even though I found what worked, I got busy with life and stepped away from it. The AWESOME thing is...

For the past TEN months, EVERY week, $50-400 has magically been deposited into my bank account... for something I'd done TEN months ago and had not touched since. It just worked away on autopilot. It's like having some little cash fairy dropping money into the bank for me.

See... I told you it was about cash fairies. Besides thinking you want a cash fairy, what you SHOULD be thinking is this...

If you find what works, duplicate the process. If I had set up three... five... ten... twenty... MORE campaigns back then... well, do the math! It's a gaggle of cash fairies.

The first $100 is the hardest hurdle. It's where you figure out what works. Though there are plenty of people making good money with internet marketing, there are also those who flail around trying to find what works. But, once you do, it's much much easier and you can build and build and enjoy as it works for you.
