It's difficult to start or grow a successful business without good direction and assistance.

I have extensive idea generation, business formation, product development, business growth, management, and corporate experience in a variety of businesses that will aid the success of your idea or business. I have consulted with individuals (sole proprietorship) through corporate sized entities.

Available services include: business mentoring, market research, competitive analysis, business strategy (resources-product-marketing-manufacturing-sales-financial-legal-exit), product development, new product introduction, idea improvement, image development, market planning, team building, manufacturing, sourcing, marketing research, analytics, M&A and more. I specialize in research and budget based implementation. Strategy is not enough. Implementation is critical. I put the plan in action!

Remember the "business plan is not the business". So many companies focus on colorful pie charts at the time expense of building a substantive and viable business. Investors are more interested in companies that have actual products and data than pure concepts.

I can take you from zero to sixty faster than you working blindly and independently. A successful Entrepreneur knows when and where they need help. Together we can devise a creative approach to an idea or business to get you that competitive advantage. Startup and growth companies need innovation in the absence of resources.

Business owners are consumed by the necessary trivia of the day to day grind required to maintain cash flow. Time spent on those issues will be never ending. Time would be better spent on the prevention of predictable situations and on business growth and profit improvement. I can provide implementable time management and business solutions toward your managed present and successful future. I WILL NOT deliver you some meaningless report that has no basis in reality. I WILL roll up my sleeves and assist the implementation of a well designed plan as required.

The window of opportunity for new businesses is narrowing as the internet and globalization opens the door to international competition. Failing to get expert assistance and want to succeed in your industry will defeat your dreams.

More services, details and contact info are available upon request. Please contact me through my US and International rates are very affordable. Please do not hesitate to contact me with questions.
