Like the title says, I'm looking for a band to join with or musicians who want to start a band. I'm a vocalist who also has the ability to play bass/guitar and write songs. Looking for people who value creativity in music and don't want to do the same thing that every other band does. I take music seriously and have goals to record albums and tour playing live shows. If any of this interests you hit me up. I have a few songs that I have recorded at the studio I work at and can share if you want to hear samples of my vocal style.

I'm very lyrically minded, meaning I like to put a lot of thought into my lyrics, but also love music that has a lot of energy too it.

Certainly do not have to make music specific to any of these bands, but my personal influences include bands such as rage against the machine, deftones, nine inch nails, underoath, chevelle, dredg, quicksand, the chariot, the sleeping, god is an astronaut, night verses...

Hope to hear from you -
