A trio of comedic webcomic writers is looking for a passionate illustrator to bring our scripts to life. After a few year hiatus from our increasingly successful webcomic, we are back with a new concept that we hope will be the next Penny Arcade! Ok, probably not, but we can dream, can't we!?

We have a well oiled ideation process and can work with illustrators in a variety of capacities. Please note, serious inquiries only. For now, this is a passion project, so while a revenue share is absolutely on the table in the future, right now we will be focusing on building a new audience and likely will not be making any money in the near term.

Please include examples in your initial outreach, and tell us why you would make the perfect addition to our!
