I have been recording with usb mics for some time now and have just got the equipment for recording using an audio interface. It seems like there is alot more to it than what I thought. I honestly just need your help setting it up for me. I bought a fast track solo interface, a samson co1 mic and have the cables and everything. I just need for someone to take some time to teach me how to set it all up and tweak my settings on the computer and adobe audition. I am a pretty good rapper, so if you want to we can mess around with some music too.
I can maybe offer 20 bucks...
Let me know what you can do!
Thank you .
Hopefully tonight as.
