I just bought a car recently, an '04 Taurus, I had it towed here because it was not registered yet and now I would rather not pay to have it towed again this time to a garage. The car needs it's ignition coil replaced I already have the part, right now the car will not start because of this and I just need someone to do the labor here because I have no idea how. I live in town Bangor and everyone I've talked to says it's a fairly easy fix so if there's anyone mechanically inclined and interested please let me know. I will pay a fair amount. Thanks for.
