A volunteer writes: A handsome redhead with amazing ears and stunning eyes, Milo is ready, set, go and thrilled to be going out. He goes potty as soon as we're out the door indicating he's likely housetrained. He pulls on the leash so will benefit from some leash training, but is responsive, in tune with his handler and likes treats so should be easy to train with reward based methods. Energetic and playful, he seems to love other dogs, watching a group in another pen, tail wagging away. Milo sits the moment he sees he's getting a treat, keeping a watchful eye on it and taking it gently. He didn't mind being tethered for photos, his tail wagging, and yes, keeping an eye on the treat. Giving hugs and kisses and happy tail wags, Milo has a great playful energy and will do well with an active family. He aced his behavior assessment indicating he'll be a good fit in just about any home.....if you're active and are able to provide Milo with exercise, playtime and lots of love, he's hoping you'll stop by to meet him today.

If you cannot adopt foster ! Fostering is free and does not have to be permanent it can be short term but will save a life ..contact a rescue group from the link above for more info about fostering

From The ACC site: To help ensure successful adoptions, please fill out a pre-adoption application (<http://www.nycacc.org/pdfs/adoptions/AdoptionApplication.pdf>) and bring it with you when you come into the Care Center to adopt a pet. If you are coming from outside of the immediately area, it is strongly suggest that you first complete an application and email it to adoption @ nycacc.org -This will allow ACC to answer any questions and resolve any potential obstacles before you make the trip.

*This dog is located at Animal Care and Control, I am not affiliated with them and I cannot 'hold' or pull any dog...I am simply trying to help give them the 2nd chance they all deserve. You will have to call the Animal Care Center at the tel# above, or contact a rescue group from the link above for.
