The University of Akron Gender Research Team is conducting several studies that will contribute to our understanding of gender roles. This study is called Masculinity, Identity and Mental Health.

The University of Akron's Gender Research team has a 15-20 minute online survey that asks what you think it means to be a man, what you consider to be acceptable behavior for men, what groups you identify with, and what substances you use. We are particularly interested in recruiting men ages 18 and older for this project because we believe it's important for men's voices to be heard in research. After the survey is completed, you will be able to enter our raffle for a chance to win one of several $50 gift cards. Feel free to pass this survey on to your friends via Facebook or other social media sites.
