I need to explain, to various relatives, what they need to know about expansion repeats.

I need a writer to "interview" me, as I explain verbally. Then write up what I said, and send it to me. Probably I would add, delete, or otherwise edit somewhat.

This might occur 4 or 5 times, because this is a lengthy and technical explanation.

Writer needs to be comfortable on the phone, interviewing. Must have recording capability and send me the recorded copy after each iteration.

Must be patient and thorough. No pot-smokin' guitar-playin' I-kin-write-enything types please.

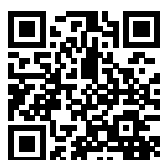

If this works well, or well enough, there will be other subject matter for which "interviews" and then the written back-and-forth would be the preferred mode.

Thank you for your interest.
