Independent production company, Howling Moon Films, is looking for guys, gals, and geeks of all ages to appear, and or potentially star, in an upcoming cosplay documentary. After our recent success producing a full length feature independent film, we are looking to try our hand at a documentary, and shine a spotlight on the world of cosplay and the wonderful people that pay tribute to their favorite comic, manga, novel, television, or movie characters, as we ourselves are huge fans of all things geek and pop culture.

One of the main goals of the documentary will be to show people's dedication to the art of cosplay at many levels, from the store bought costumes and props, to the handmade, time consuming outfits people dedicate so much of their free time designing and making. We are looking to interview and show as many cosplayers as possible, in and out of the various pop culture conventions. For a select few we will be looking to go more in depth, beginning to film at the design process, following through the whole making of the costume, eventually revealing the final design at said conventions, and following along the show floor with you and any events/activities you participate in.

So if you or anyone you know dresses up as fan favorite characters from time to time and would love to show off your costume, creativity, and love of cosplay, email Shawn with the subject "Cosplay Doc" and we will set up a convenient time and place of your choosing to meet up and discuss the documentary in more detail. We are based out of Wethersfield, CT and are willing to drive to meet up if within state, or possibly further, depending on need.
