A thriving computer club in a seniors complex is looking for volunteer teachers for their computer club. These are not people who have never used a computer, but for example a class on gmail, not the basics of sending an email, but rather to explore all the other options gmail offers, which for this generation can be confusing without guidance. Another example would be Google drive, again there is more to this than meets the eye and we need it broken down. These are just examples, there are many other topics, e.g. some skype regularly already, but some want to be taught from scratch. This would be great on a student's resume.

Also suggestions of any schools or colleges to contact who may have students who would be interested in this, would be greatly appreciated.

Get back to me with your details and any questions you may have. Look forward to hearing from you.

Thanks!
