Is your son or daughter enrolled in an AP Calculus, AP Physics or AP Statistics course?

Are they prepared for an AP exam, where they have about two minutes to solve each multiple choice problem?

Where each problem tests their conceptual understanding, not memorization ability?

Where there is very little partial credit and

Where the exam questions are not similar to the problems they did for home work?

I will review ALL the most frequently tested material, and provide them the strategic and problem solving skills necessary to do well on the AP exams.

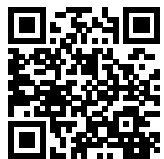

About me:

PhD in engineering + multiple years of successfully coaching high achieving students reach their academic potential. References provided on request.
