A volunteer writes: Blue has a nearly PERFECT safer with ones all the way down on his scores. He is a friendly, social guy. He was sooo cute with that toy (see the video). He didn't seem interested in it at all, then he stepped on it and it squeaked and he was obsessed from that moment on...but it was like he didn't know quite how to play with it. LOL. He's a beautiful, fit boy and will do well in an active home. I did not observe any issues with other dogs. Please save this beauty!

EVALUATION - Blue was sociable towards the handler but was often more interested in his surroundings during SAFER. He allowed the assessor to conduct all of the handling items, while he remained still bodily. He was excited and playful during the interaction, but was a bit out of control of the food bowl during the food test, but his body was still. He was easy to handle while growing up, the toy dog and was not interested in the rabbit. When he could be leash with dog, he was stiff and on his edge with a lot of growl when greeting dogs through the gate, and when leash he didn't appear to be interested in interacting with other dogs.
