This is a new factory sealed KitchenAid electric convection range in stainless steel, model KERS303BSS. This range is selling for $1299 at Lowes but we have one left for $699. You can reach us at

Features:

Electronic oven controls

Easy to operate for efficient use.

6.2 cu. ft. oven

With 2 standard racks and 1 Max Capacity rack accommodates multiple courses simultaneously, so you can cook for a large group in less time.

5 radiant cooktop elements

Including a 12"/9"/6" triple-ring element, 10" Even-Heat Ultra element and two 6" elements provide between 1100 and 3200 watts of power to help meet various cooking requirements.

100W keep-warm element

Delivers a low heat setting to help keep dishes at optimal temperature until you're ready to serve them.

Even-Heat Melt capability softens specialty foods without scorching.

Even-Heat True Convection system

Uses a bow-tie-shape baffle, convection element and fan to evenly and thoroughly bake, broil or roast foods, delivering reliable results. EasyConvect Conversion function simplifies convection cooking.

Even-Heat Preheat

Optimizes the oven temperature before it's time to cook, helping to ensure that food is cooked to your liking.

 The EasyConvect program has even been pre-determined to suit your cooking style.
 The Even-Heat Melt function allows a cook to melt butter, cheese, chocolate, etc. without scorching.
 Hot-surface indicator

How you use the surface area is too hot to touch for safety.
 The control lock function helps prevent unauthorized use of the oven.
 The self-cleaning technology utilizes water and a temperature below 250°F to release baked-on spots, making after-dinner cleanup easy.
 Large ClearVue window and even light
 Let you monitor the cooking progress without opening the oven door and releasing heat.
