Scribble is a very sweet loving girl, who just turned 4 years old. She loves to cuddle and would prefer to sleep with you. She is a mid size mix about 40 pounds. Scribble is spayed and up to date on all her vaccines. She is fine with other dogs no matter the size and loves the dog park, unless she is on a leash as she has leash aggression towards other dogs out of frustration that she can't go see them. I have had her since she was 10 weeks old and she has brought nothing but happiness to my life. She is shy, but I think/hope she will adjust after a while. This kills me to do, but I don't have a choice. She can not be placed with cats or small animals, as she has a high prey drive (I would say small children as their noise and quick movements scare her). Scribble needs someone able to give her a lot of exercise, but a mellow and quiet home. She is an indoor dog, who just goes outside to play at the dog park, go on walks and potty. She loves to play ball, but prefers a baseball to any other kind. She learns quickly with positive reinforcement and knows basic commands such as sit, lay down, off, stay, and high five. She is crate trained and her crate will come with her. I am asking $150 for her rehoming fee. I hate to lose my baby, so I need to make sure she goes to the right.
