Ghostwriting and Publishing Services by Nashville-Based Writer and Editor

If you have been dreaming of writing and publishing a book about your life, a business concept, or something else you want to share with the world, I can help you transform the inklings of your imagination into a polished and published book.

I am a Nashville-based, Harvard-educated ghostwriter and publishing expert with over ten years of industry experience. I have worked with New York Times bestselling authors and well-known public figures, as well as numerous published authors and first-time writers.

If you are looking for an elite, dedicated, and passionate ghostwriter, editor, and/or publishing consultant, call me for a FREE consultation at

My services include (but are not limited to):

- Planning your book and developing an outline
- Interviews with you or others to learn about your story or book concept
- Rigorous research
- Comprehensive ghostwriting (or rewriting) with free revisions
- Meticulous editing
- Critical review and insightful feedback on your manuscript
- Book cover design
- Formatting and typesetting for POD publications or eBooks
- Publishing consultation for traditional publishing

- Literary agent search services

- Self-publishing services (cover and every step in process)

I would love to hear about your idea and always available via phone or email to discuss your project in detail. AT NO CHARGE, I can also provide free services for my work.
