2 year old male cat declawed in front and neutered needs a home. Max, a very sweet active cat was left with me to baby sit for a couple of weeks and was abandoned. He uses the litter box without fail, and must remain indoors at all times because his front claws were removed. Looking for a responsible adult to take this cat that will keep him long term. I am not looking to rehome this cat to be a "child's toy." Thanks for reading.....The picture included in post is not of Max but of a cat I found on the net that looks exactly like.
