Free to good home. I just cannot take care of her anymore. She is very lovable and good with other cats, dogs, and children. At first she is very shy and does not like attention but give her some time and she is very sweet and loving. She is not spayed. I have had her for 7 months and got her when she was 8 weeks old. She is litter trained and has been an inside cat for her entire life. I just want her to go to a family that has the time to put in to having.
