I am looking for a new home for my energetic, incredibly loyal 3 year old female dog. She likes to ski tour and hike, swim and play fetch. She has not shared a home with other dogs and frequently shows aggression towards other dogs, so I would only recommend she go to a home without other pets. (She is also a cat chaser)

She is great with people, has been around children, even infants, and does well with them. She is a loving dog and would do great in a home with multiple people that would be able to take her with them on hikes and walks and continue her training.

She has a good list of tricks: sit, stay, shake, high-five, "bang"/play dead, up, roll over... She is obedient off leash when on a trail, but will stray if she picks up a games scent, and is sometimes aggressive when coming across other dogs on trails.

It breaks my heart to even consider finding a new home for her, but my current living and work situations do not provide her with the time, exercise and attention she really deserves. So, I thought I would see what possibilities are out there.

Please contact if you are truly serious about a possible adoption and you can meet this wonderful.
