If you are an artist trying to make a name for yourself, you should check out darwinbeats dotcom.

It's a new online music platform that plays your music to interested listeners so it can receive ratings and go up the ranks. All you need to do is create great music and upload it. Everything else is taken care of organically.

We have just launched, and early registrants receive extra perks, such as 20% more royalties from their songs as well as free stats reports and a profile badge. Not to mention you'll get a head start with less competition.

Best of!
