ICG is an independent healthcare research firm looking to get up close and personal with adults diagnosed with Type 2 Diabetes to gain their very important and very unique perspective on what it's like to live with this condition. This forum will provide you with an online support system where you can share your experiences and connect with other adults living with this condition from across the United States to learn from their experiences and to increase awareness about this common condition.

We want to know what your experiences are like, what your challenges have been, and most importantly, more about you as a person -- with and without Type 2 Diabetes. For a year, you and a select group of other adults with Type 2 Diabetes will be a part of an exciting online community where you will talk about your life, connect with others in the community, and inspire new ways of talking and thinking about Type 2 Diabetes. You'll be providing feedback on materials and ideas that will go directly to decision-makers in the healthcare industry which in turn could be used to help other adults who are affected with Type 2 Diabetes!

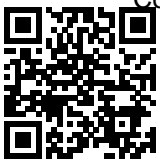

This 12 month commitment requires a dedicated individual up for the task and willing to be open and honest while chatting, interacting online, and divulging their thoughts and opinions on a variety of topics. In addition to making an impact on this important issue, participants will receive $20 on a monthly basis for sharing your thoughts and opinions on a weekly basis and have a chance to win an iPad multiple times throughout the year by contributing to this discussion board on a weekly basis.

If this sounds like something you're eager to learn more about, please follow the link below to determine if you qualify and are eligible to participate in this exciting digital experience, designed to learn more about what's important to you.
