What if everything in your life happened for a reason?

Upon reflection you realize that the drama in your life turned out to be your greatest gifts.

That letting go of past resentment can cause profound change for the here and now.

This unique book is a series of short stories of real life experiences. Some of the stories are funny, some a bit shocking. After the description of each short story, the readers are invited to choose from a list of occurrences that may or may not have occurred at the end of the story. The reader is also encouraged to use their own creativity by coming up with their own ending for each story along with sharing their own humorous learning life experiences.
