I have long, wavy hair but it usually ends up looking frizzy. I came across this guy on Twitter and like the texture his hair has - any advice on a product to use to get me a look that will hold together like his does and won't frizz or be stiff when it dries?

His twitter for reference:

My hair is currently a couple inches longer than his in the pictures and I am thinking of getting it trimmed (maybe something with layers?) - his hair style is stupid in most of his pictures, but if you have pictures of a style that looks good, I'd appreciate that as well. If you are a hair stylist, I'd be open to meeting up to get it done.
