I'm an aspiring Director in search of a Producer to collaborate with. Looking for a long term partnership which allows us both to grow and succeed together.

About me:

I'm passionate about dramatic narratives. My goal is to create films that are character and story driven. To be able to entertain and ultimately provoke an emotion from the viewers. I have a few years of production experience under my belt and now ready to hone my directing abilities.

If this sounds like something your interested in and if I sound like someone you want to collaborate with, please get in touch. Tell me about who you are and what are your goals. What do you have access to (crew, equipment, location, funding, etc...)? Also include your experience level and what you are capable of, as well as what you would like to get better at.

Skill is a plus, personality, hunger and follow through are an absolute must.

Let me know if you have any questions as.
