Location California

I am a bass player looking to form or join a existing band. I moved to LA from Portland Oregon in December 2013 to pursue music, that has been all I have done everyday since. I am very dedicated to music and whatever band I am in.

I am 25 so old enough to play bars. I have been playing bass since my 14th Birthday, I asked my dad to get me one for a present and its been a non stop thing in my life since. I played in many bands in Oregon, toured and been in and out of groups out here. I am looking for something stable to build up. I have played guitar about 8 years so I could do a little of that if needed but I am not looking for a full time guitar thing unless its super needed, I really love playing bass more. Additionally I am not a vocalist, I cant sing.

I have many links to share with interested parties but below is my youtube channel. I recorded 10 songs and posted them just to show basic technique and timing. Please dont take what you see me playing as bands I am majorly into. These are just covers of which I know many as I play in a cover band in Oregon, I knew many songs but only recorded these 10 and got tired of making youtube videos, my influences listed below are a better thing to pull from. Again I am very into music in general, I have influences from almost every genre for the past 50+ years.

A previous Oregon Band-

One of my previous bands is www.facebook.com/musicbysecondson, the songs Boiling point and Change me were written by me. Change me is more of a pop driven type of song, boiling point is more alternative or metal. I write a wide variety and I dont have to be involved in the writing process but I can if wanted.

Live Performances-

So yeah here are 2 videos of me both a cover of bars bass and a song I wrote just to show stage presence and real life playing like sound quality on page as well as one on my phone.

An LA band I was in
 The guy in this band were great but they were really into make up, like it became a requirement and also dressing like a cross dresser. That's cool if you are into that but I am not as for the music the bass lines are simple root notes, but that's how they were written by the guitarist and they wanted it exactly like that on the EP, I played on
