Zoe is 9 months old. We got her as a puppy and have her trained in sitting, fetch, crate, and uses the doggy door. We are sad to have to let her go but I'm being displaced by the airlines to NYC and we will be switching to an apartment. She is overly affectionate and requires to be the center of attention and has loads of energy loving to play in the backyard. She gives frequent kisses and thinks she's a lap dog. She gets along with all animals but again is energetic and better suited for younger animals that can handle her energy. She's a very loyal dog and will be a addition for a family looking for this perfect.
