Hello I am a licensed nurse for 8years now and ive just went from a full time nurse to on call weekends. so i will be able to spend more time with my boys. I'm also employed through the military working with efmp families prn (on call). I'm a very compassionate person and i love working with people in general. This is our 2nd duty station and like ive said before i have two sons one who is in the 1st grade and another that will be turning 2 the 1st of May. Being a licensed nurse you know im cpr certified med certified and etc. And can provide all documentation needed. I'm available Monday through Friday hours are 0530-1730. i know with military families those hours and dates are subject to change (with advance notice). I do not smoke neither does my husband i also have a fbi finger print background check required by the military for my efmp job. I do charge $25 a day thats mainly because i do not want to be one of those over crowded babysitters and it'll allow me to provide more one on one care for your child. Also when i worked i found it more convenient as well as cost efficient to have a daily rate than a hourly rate. Just let me know your availability if your still interested in meeting with me and ill give you my address so we can set up a interview feel free to ask me.
