I have a shop in Raytown & I refurbish Appliances, I have been doing this for about 7 years now & have done many appliances. I don't claim to know it all cause I don't & there r many out there I can not repair. I do repair front load washers, these can be difficult to repair & take a lot of time not to mention it costs a arm & leg to repair, most people that contact me about these machines have had outrageous prices quoted to them & just want to dump them. I like the conventional washers & dryers they r much easier to repair with low cost (Not saying I will not work on them, depends on problem)

I do refrigerators as long as I do not have to do freon, I am not license to do it but any other problems I can repair.

I work on stoves.

I charge $30 to show up, now I will ask u about ur problem to determine if I can fix it, I not out to beat u for 30 bucks, if I think I can help u I will come. Regardless weather I can fix it or not U ow me 30 bucks. When I get there I will let u know what it will take to fix ur appliance on the average it costs around $60 to $80 on most repairs.

Sometimes for what I charge to fix ur appliance that is what it costs for another appliance repair person to show up, think about it.

I do sell appliances, u probably seen my ads on craigslist, It may be cheaper to just buy another one than to fix yours. either way for $30 I will be up front & honest with u. Whatever u problem is give me a call to help.
