Are parents and friends able to buffer children and teens from stress?

We are recruiting children/teens and their best friends for one 2-hour visit at the University of Minnesota. Participants will complete a short speaking task and a math task and will provide saliva and urine samples to measure the hormones cortisol and oxytocin. The parent or friend will help the participant prepare for their speech.

- ? Participants and their friends will be compensated for their time with Target gift cards.
- ? Free parking is provided.
- ? Call or email for more information or to set up an!
