Okay so I am married with four children at home 7,5,3, 1 1/2 yrs. as you can imagine getting out for a date night can be next to impossible and expensive with babysitting costs. So I was looking for a couple who is in the similar situation and thought we could help each other out. we could babysit for you free of charge while you go out on a date night and some much needed mommy daddy time. In return if you would sometime return the favor. now of course I do not expect you to leave your child or children with just anyone as I would not do that myself so a meet and greet would be a must maybe over dinner or a cook out? who knows we might even become friends :) if you are interested please text me at my name is Sarah or email
