I've had this gem for several years. I used it for the first few, then boxed it for a few. It's in excellent condition. The only drawback is that it doesn't play Blu-Ray. It sounds fantastic, though.

Bonus - I just found the remote. The system is complete!

This all-in-one system features a 5-disc DVD changer/receiver, five speakers, and a subwoofer. The 'P50 is equipped with "HDMI" (High-Definition Multimedia Interface), for an especially clear DVD picture with compatible TVs. It can "upconvert" standard DVD signals to higher-resolution, near-HD quality, sending the upgraded signals to any TV with an HDMI input. You'll enjoy a striking picture from all your favorite DVDs.

If you've been using your TV's speakers, get ready for a dramatic improvement in your home entertainment. The 'P50's speakers are driven by over 800 watts of amplification, for powerful surround sound. And thanks to the system's built-in processing, you'll get wraparound audio with all your DVD movies, as well as VHS tapes and even TV shows. You can also enjoy high-resolution music from stereo and multichannel DVD-Audio discs -- special music discs that offer enhanced sonic detail and depth.

One cool feature that sets this system apart is its front-panel USB interface, which lets you easily hook up a portable digital music player and enjoy your digital music collection. You can even control your player using the 'P50's on-screen display and select songs with the keypad on the included remote. Enjoy rich, full sound with your favorite tunes and share them with family and.
